

100 Years of Neurology at The University of Iowa

The University of Iowa Neurology Department is celebrating 100 years of patient care, discoveries, and education. This exhibit will introduce you to the hard-working people who have changed the world of neurology from the department's beginnings in 1919 to today.

Join the John Martin Rare Book Room and the Neurology Department of The University of Iowa in an exploration and centennial celebration of the third oldest neurology department in the United States.

Beginning February 2019 on the 3rd floor of the Hardin Library for the Health Sciences.

