We Are Hawkeyes
Celebrating 175 Years of Student Life at the University of Iowa
January 18 - July 3, 2022
Main Library Gallery
Students are the lifeblood of a university, and student life shapes and informs those who have had the university or college experience.

We Are Hawkeyes: Celebrating 175 Years of Student Life at the University of Iowa sets out to illustrate that experience in all its flavors, from athletics to academics, from parties to protest. Coming of age in a university setting brings with it a wide range of accumulated knowledge and lessons for life.

Entering college for me was a source of anxiety and anticipation. I personally couldn’t wait to leave home – no disrespect toward my parents is intended – and stake out a sense of self-identity. However, I also carried with me a sense of dread. What will it all be like? How will it all unfold? What will I turn into as an adult?

Heavy questions for an awkward and introverted 18-year-old in 1974, I suppose, but I suspect that they are not at all unusual. These questions seem timeless, regardless of whether we are boomers (or older), Gen-Xers, Millenials, or Gen-Zers.

We Are Hawkeyes explores those times of transition with records from the University Archives. Our staff enjoyed selecting these materials and we hope you enjoy or appreciate the stories they tell. Not all of them are pleasant; some are difficult to absorb. But all of them are, we hope, compelling in some way.

– David McCartney, University Archivist

Students are the very core of the University of Iowa. Although students arrive on campus to pursue their higher education, the classroom is only one facet of the student experience. Student life on our campus is immersive, enmeshing students in both the Hawkeye community and Iowa City. Some students find their niche when they first step foot on campus and participate in existing student organizations or extracurricular activities. Others have had to carve out space for their identity or their passions. It is this breadth of experiences and community life that we tried to fully capture in We Are Hawkeyes: Celebrating 175 Years of Student Life at the University of Iowa.

It is fortuitous that the 175th anniversary of the University of Iowa is also my second year serving as the Community and Student Life Archivist in the University Archives. The groundwork for this exhibit quite literally began in my first month on the job in January 2021. Co-curating We Are Hawkeyes gave me the opportunity to explore the University Archives broadly in my first year to excavate the materiality of student life. What was resounding as I dug deeper into our collections is the tenacity of student voices throughout the university’s history.

We Are Hawkeyes showcases the various places and ways that students show up. For the joy of friendship and community, for the challenge of inclusion and accessibility, for the love of campus and the city. I hope this exhibit is an invitation. To celebrate our collective history. To explore our University’s history even further. To donate materials from your own student experience to the University Archives. Thank you for visiting.

– Aiden Bettine, Community and Student Life Archivist

I am grateful for the opportunity to highlight these engaging and diverse student experiences, plucked from the pages of rich University of Iowa history.

85. Moung Edwin of Burma, ca. 1879. Student Portrait Series, Frederick W. Kent Collection of Photographs. [UA]

The first international student enrolled at the University of Iowa was Moung Edwin of Burma in fall 1878. Mr. Edwin earned three degrees in the United States before traveling to Iowa for his Law degree. He earned his B.A. (1875) and M.A. (1876) at Columbian College (now George Washington University) in Washington, D. C., and he earned his Bachelor of Didactics, or B.D. for teaching (1878) at Crozer Theological Seminary in Upland, Pennsylvania. On June 17, 1879, Mr. Edwin earned his Bachelor of Laws degree (LL.B.) at the University of Iowa Law Department, as it was called until 1901 when it became the College of Law. After earning four degrees in the United States, Mr. Edwin returned home to Burma to practice law and serve in the ministry until his death in 1912.

There were two firsts in the SUI Law Class of 1879. The first international student graduate at the University of Iowa was Mr. Moung Edwin of Burma, back row, center, turned slightly to the viewer’s right. The second man left of Mr. Edwin, next to the Old Capitol pillar, is Alexander G. Clark, Jr., of Muscatine, Iowa, the first black law graduate in the United States. This photograph was taken on the Old Capitol steps. Law classes were held in the Old Capitol building from 1868 to 1910.

Note the canes held by several of the graduates. Since at least 1879, University of Iowa College of Law seniors have traditionally carried a cane near the time of their graduation to symbolize their new profession.
